Subject: ide: Complete identifier improved
Posted by mirek on Mon, 22 Jun 2015 09:34:35 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

This function, default [Ctrl+,], used to list all identifiers gathered through the file, matching what is already written in the editor, for completion.

Then there was another function [Ctrl+M], that did complete as much characters of identifier "bash style" - same as if you press Tab in bash prompt.

Now these two functions are combined - pressing [Ctrl+] completes as much characters as possible and provides the list for the rest...