(at least noticed it ENOUGH to actually think about it.) What was the reasoning for this? Was the 'mate' meant to signify 'friend'?

Ehm, AFAIK, nothing. Just artistic license.

BTW, I think it is time for the logo redesign. Current logo exists for too long now...

In the process, I would also make a "silent" project name transition, renaming platform to just "U++".

He he, U++ is also a short form of "you++" which means that you get boosted with U++.
