Hi,

as you can see, I had some progress with migration.

Unfortunately, I got stuck with forum migration. For yet unknown reason, export/import of forum did not worked as expected, in the end I had to fix it and patch it and fix it again, until I got here... which is still not good, but at least I can post this message. I will continue fixing

So far we have migrated svn, website generation (for uppweb developers, ftp transfer at the end of website generation process is not commented out as uppweb now runs directly at the web server and stores files to /var/www) and, more or less, this forum.

The migrated svn repostory resides at svn://www.ultimatepp.org/upp

What is missing is redmine - I will try to do it ASAP... And then of course, finilizing the forum migration (but I hope we can have it this ugly for a couple of days).
