Subject: Docking host platform dependency refactored
Posted by mirek on Tue, 11 Jun 2013 06:17:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Docking package had some platform dependent code (for Win32/X11) used to track moving of tool windows. This obviously created problems when porting to other platforms.

I have refactored this issue out by using frameless TopWindow and implementing moving behavior in our code. In the process I have also added frameless support for plain X11 and fixed some mouse event/capture related issues.

Mirek