Subject: Re: Several versions of upp: the best structure of Upp directories?
Posted by mirek on Wed, 16 Aug 2006 08:10:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well, I keep only the actual version But that is me (I can fix all problems in the moment I encounter them).

OK, we have created upp605 repository with frozen 605 sources (without new Image), I believe Tom still uses this repository.

I guess for U++ users, it would make sense to keep 3 uppsrc version:

- latest "stable" (605)
- latest "known to work" (compiles your apps and runs without known trouble)
- latest

And perhaps two theide.exe - I would appreciate if anybody interested in latest sources always compiled new ide as soon as possible and used it (to find bugs soon).

Mirek