Great news!

Looks like a good idea to make it in two steps:

First step as "RAW" ImageBuffer producing thing.

And later, if needed, we can add second step (the one capable of printing).

I guess, for the first step we can just use plain agg interfaces plus simple Draw interfaces (so that you can actually use existing Draw code too).

Mirek