- "tutorials"

or

- "concept overviews"

or

- "reference"

I would say documentation for a new U++ user should be written in this order:

"concept overviews"

"tutorials" (maybe just a couple more)

"reference"

For an experienced U++ user, they would prefer "reference" be completed first. Doc writing is a no-win task, because you can't please everyone until it is finished (and it is never finished).
