Subject: Process Class wrapper for pipes in windows/linux
Posted by yeus on Fri, 24 Aug 2007 13:56:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

does something like this already exist in ultimate++? If not, will it be added some time?

Some class, which wraps redirecting of streams between pipes stdout/int, sterr, creating your won streams to communicate between processes using pipes..

(I am mainly talking about a wrapper for the windows-api-function _popen(...), and the posix standart functions popen(...)

Greetings, Tom