Subject: TheIDE 602 Fedora Gnome [BUGS][FIXED]
Posted by akos on Tue, 21 Feb 2006 18:26:28 GMT

Hi,

I'm using the latest beta3 under linux and having a problem with TheIDE. When I edit source file(s) in TheIDE and switch to another application and back by Alt+Tab, the scope goes out of the edit window to the lower left part of TheIDE, where your source files are listed and cannot move the cursor in the edit window by the arrow keys. If I move the mouse at this point the scope goes back to the edit window and everything works fine. This problem does not occur when I switch to another application and back by the mouse. It doesn't seem to be a big problem, just a bit annoying.

akos