Well, Drawing does not really support Null.
Strange, in 2007.1 it did. Well, at least I don't get an error in this versions so I can just skip the test.

Well, we have changed the mingw version. I think it can be related... Maybe some illegal coversion routes were disabled in new GCC.

Any idea why TheIDE opens Callback.h after a run with MSVC? I had this issue with dev9 too.

What it does? Can you describe in more detail, please?
