
Subject: Re: Testing OsX Leopard
Posted by lundman on Wed, 31 Oct 2007 00:18:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Heh I thought I would compile 708 and check it out as I was curious about what QuickTabs were, and the widgets www page has not been updated with them...

.. but 708 seems to open all context menus (dropdowns, right mouse etc) UNDER the main frame, so it is rather difficult to use.

Otherwise it compiled with minimal changes. (get_nprocs should use the same code as FREEBSD under OSX11).