sorry for the look. It's partly because of from FUD forum inherited colors and partly - we were rushing with ... I had just a few hours last night to study the forum code related to appearance and I needed distinguishing colors to find out where my changes apply..

I hope to add a choice of several styles for users in the next coming days... Or if you want to play with the design, you can download <http://www.arilect.com/upp/forum/theme/default/forum.css> file and experiment with the values, and post here...
