Subject: Tools or methodologies you use when developing software
Posted by mobilehunter on Thu, 20 Dec 2007 05:54:52 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi,

I'm curious to what you guys are using when developing a software(be it simple plugin or big software).

It could be software name and methodology name you always use.

For example, what Mirek is using now when developing U++.
I'm trying to learn UML when developing some simple(small) software.
But sometime i feel it takes much time for simple software to use UML.
So i ended up with some sketches on paper

How about you guys?

Regards,
Reza