Subject: Cooperate with another interesting project: The Haiku Operating System!
Posted by fleximus on Fri, 28 Dec 2007 12:46:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi,

I'm kinda new to Ultimate++ and like the approach taken by it. I also like it's liberal license.

What I think is missing is a cooperation with another very good project: Haiku, which is a operating system clone of the beloved BeOS. It uses the MIT/X license.

Both projects would have benefits from that and it would be a good PR announcement for both. A classic win-win situation

Greets,
Flex