Maybe someone can help me. I have got the following problem. I have got an image in a picturebox (using the image property) and draw some things above that (using the Paint-event).

When I manually change the scrollbars of the form, to make the picturebox scroll, it's very slow. When I remove the image, it is fast.

I'm using the double buffer for the things I draw above the image. I only can program c#.net and VB.net and using currently using .net 2003.

Need I go to .net 2005 or should be a setting been made.
