Subject: Re: Win98 support
Posted by mirek on Tue, 04 Mar 2008 00:23:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Mindtraveller wrote on Mon, 03 March 2008 17:02
Instead, if there`s problem with keyboard scan codes, nothing prevents us from detecting OS on application start and using appropriate scan code resolver, so U++ programmer see no difference between programming Vista/XP/9x.

Well, this is what we always did. But there seems to be no workaround for the Vista bug.... App compiled for ANSI is simply not getting the right codes.

Mirek