Subject: Re: How do I correctly acknowledge Ultimate++
Posted by mirek on Wed, 16 Apr 2008 10:24:02 GMT

No, you do not need to quote the license. It is ok just to say "Developed using U++" or something like that. Placing link to U++ website would be nice (if possible).

Anyway, if you are using some plugin/* packages, you should also check license requirements in them. All of them (well, with some exceptions that are not used in developed software) are BSD compatible, but that means you should mention their authors somewhere too.

Mirek