
Subject: Re: Can Ultimate++ support Digital Mars Compiler?

Posted by Mindtraveller on Sat, 17 May 2008 16:18:54 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Could you please add experimental support for Digital mars compiler builder within TheIDE? For now it doesn't compile U++, but DM C++ itself is good. TheIDE and DMC++ compiler is great solution i.e. for programming embedded systems which are DOS16-compatible binaries.
