
Subject: Re: How to create a GridCtrl with fixed cell size
Posted by cbpporter on Wed, 21 May 2008 13:48:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thanks for the fix!

Now I need to determine the current row & column. I found a GetCurrentRow (but no GetCurrentColumn), but the value which it returned seems to be off (and even constant in my case). There is also GetCursor, which returns (-1, -1)? And which is the event for cell change?

And is there an easier way to do key/value stuff than using a Value and GridDisplay?
