Ok, found the answer to the last question, too.

I am really starting to like UPP! I created a simple program that copies the contents (but reversed) of a LineEdit control to a Label, after the press on a button.

UPP is very impressive and looks awesome! If anyone could point me to a simple beginners HOWTO, though, that would be great. I am sure I could learn a lot more than I have now already

Michel