Recently I've rebuilt TheIDE under FreeBSD from latest SVN sources and got the same wrong option active by default.

Well, I did check the debian package and GCC.bm (which sets default link mode) is ok.

Maybe you had an old .upp/theide-svn folder ? If it was already there, the installer doesn't replace it, in order to keep user options.

EDIT : BTW, installing directly from svn sources doesn't set the default GCC.bm as debian package... I guess there's something in installer to adjust.
