I guess we have different representations on what a tree control should do.

Maybe it would be better for me to find a different solution rather than tweak OptionTree to suit my needs, since it seems that it was built with other needs in mind.

Also, I think there is something broken with MINGW debugger. I download RC2 today and debugging doesn't work for me. It was always a little buggy under MINGW, but it was usable. But now, break points are sometimes ignored step in and over don't work at all.
