Hi Matthias,

I am away from the computer right now, so I can't get the version until tomorrow.

All I know off the top of my head is that computer came preconfigured from Sun with Solaris 10 and the basic support software. I am trying to complete this build without adding additional software and libraries. Not that I can't, it is just a royal pain to get anything copied to the computer. As it is, I just to post to this forum, I have to copy files to my work pc, then copy the files to a server at my house, then use a remote xserver to access the forum to upload the files. My work won't me me access the forums directly.

Dave
