
Subject: Re: Decimal

Posted by mirek on Fri, 01 Aug 2008 09:18:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well, completely opposite idea...

Maybe we could use int128 (supported by both MSC and GCC) and sort of fixed point, only removing last 4 or 5 bits of number to specify the precision (as number of significant places).

That would give us ability to represent 10^{20} numbers with up to 10^{-16} precision (if I have computed numbers well).

Mirek
