From my side:

- GridCtrl2 - to deliver best grid in the market for free . New version will be (is) implemented from scratch. Main goals: grouping, virtual mode, different views (classical and cards), filtering system (I have it implemented in my current project) better integration with SQL package (less coding)

- together with James: docking system in TheIde. We have nv branch in svn, but none of us seem to have time right now to integrate it. But ofcourse it will be done.

- much better quicktabs (now we call it "tabbar"). Now they support drawing in any direction and drag and drop. In "ide" mode they will deliver some great solutions (I finally found how it should work).

- maybe some kind of ORM.
