
Subject: Re: Using Qtf forgets control font
Posted by cbpporter on Sat, 30 Aug 2008 11:43:33 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I think I understand now. When you are printing on paper, the size of an inch is constant. Thus increasing DPI, makes text smaller.

But on screen, DPI is considered PPI and the pixel size for a resolution is considered constant. By altering DPI, you actually change the size of an inch. So by increasing DPI, you increase the "virtual" inch size, and thus text gets larger.
