Subject: ArrayCtrl: Why editing row still needs Ctrl+Enter?
Posted by Mindtraveller on Tue, 21 Oct 2008 20:53:12 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Should plain clicking the row activate it`s edit mode with editor controls shown? I think average user won`t search for untrivial key combination to edit some cell...

I remember having met this issue about year ago when I was needed ArrayCtrl. Now I needed it again, used arrctrl.AddColumn().Edit(option) and found that it is still needed to push Ctrl+Enter to start editing. As it was year ago when we discussed this topic.

Please think of usability.
Not even to mention the case where app for touchpad console computers with no keyboard is being developed