The them is really approaching production status. There are still a bunch of controls that need skinning, but most common ones are done.

Under Linux the style still varies depending on Gnome theme. I'll try to fix that soon a repost the theme with a few nice additions.

I had to do some compromises, and I hope to be able to eliminate some of them to preserve the original look.

PS: I will point Christoph Feck, the author of this theme directly to this forum, so that he can see the progress.
