
Subject: Re: PostgreSQL and binary data
Posted by phirox on Thu, 12 Mar 2009 10:23:26 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You can just use the data field name BLOB or LONGRAW in your schema. These are both of the type 'bytea' in postgresql. And can be filled with a normal String in C++. Since Strings can contain any raw data(including '\000') this shouldn't provide any problem.
