- Redesigning U++ logo (it is pretty old now)

Just please, do not expect me to do everything

OK, pack of rough sketches. No beauty, just to visualize the idea... May be it'll lead someone to better realization.

There is no need to hurry up with the change of the logo. The new logo does not bear a message that this is a continuity with the C++ (unlike the old).

Also, when I first installed the product, I have long sought to know what the name of the menu? Correct! - Ultimate++! But it was not there! The menu was another unknown word - TheIDE! I think this a big mistake. Better would be to write the menu - Ultimate++, or perhaps - Ultimate++ TheIDE.

Even in the letters to our visitors, the signatures must be kept - Ultimate++ team. Everywhere!

And I think the loss is impermissible, then that site does not send notifications of new messages in subscribed threads in the mail. People read the forum and went - and then a letter - "means Ultimate - it works!". It is very important!
