

---

Subject: Re: New functions to SysInfo

Posted by Mindtraveller on Sun, 10 May 2009 20:50:03 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Koldo, if you know better solution for POSIX - please tell. IMO xbindkeys is better than local cycle at least because it will make ONE cycle for ALL executed programs, and even if you run a number of programs based on U++/xbindkeys, you'll get only ONE cycle. But I'm not really shure if it is portable solution. So one needs to investigate which window managers / distributives have this utility and which are not.

---