For now, I do always have a lag (it seems like OS restart is needed). But whan I succeeded in decreasing the lag, it was a strong dependency on amount of opened files and their size. One opened small file could possibly make lag smaller. It needs more thorough testing which I can make only in short periods (sorry, detached duty in 2 days - have to finish many things for now).

OK, let me know if you have any new results...

Maybe Daniel can test meanwhile?

I have to say, I do not see any lag on my slow testing machine now...
