This app is progressing and I am relying pretty heavily on the ability to use the WhenMove event, however, that's my own local change to the U++ libraries which I don't want to maintain on each svn up if it's not the proper way of doing things or if something similar is not going to be supported officially.

Sorry for not responding. I've been busy with buying my new car
Yes, the idea is good. I'll provide your patch after short review.
