I think theide should just not recreate a file in the same location, but instead open the existing file, truncate it (http://linux.about.com/library/cmd/blcmdl2\_truncate.htm)

and write the new content. That way you prevent having to know about all aspects of the file (attributes, file-rights etc)
