Oh Nixnixnix, it is not so easy.

You can find a reference in http://msdn.microsoft.com/en-us/library/aa365542%28VS.85%29.
aspx and in http://msdn.microsoft.com/en-us/library/cc500401.aspx there is a general explanation.

SetFilePointerEx gives a file pointer, although I do not know if it will serve you.

Best regards
