
Subject: Re: Strange behavior of Point in watches
Posted by mr_ped on Fri, 04 Sep 2009 06:32:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well, the 9.10 is already quite frozen. Although this package will very likely reside in universe repository, so it may be frozen later, but I doubt gdb will release 7.0 soon enough.

At this point it's either 10.04 (in case they release it in next 1-2 months) or somebody putting it into PPA (personal repository at launchpad) for older Ubuntu and you finding it there + adding that PPA. Or 10.10 if they miss 10.04 freeze milestone.

Ubuntu is running ahead quite fast actually, so it's easy to miss the release with your SW, if you don't care and don't follow a good release schedule. Yet even at this frantic speed, when you need some SW, even fresh Ubuntu feels suddenly outdated. Weird, but that's how it works.
