Things I want to show is mostly a subject to discussion and critics.

My first attempt is a little beautifying of package files list.
Here it is:

Clicking item switches between .cpp/.h/... files (current file icon is the rightmost and opaque while others are semi-transparent). Small icon to the left is the symbol of recently changed state (from almost invisible gray towards green).

Do you like it better then current list or not? What would you change here?
Nice look!
