well, i guess it would lower the "should i bother the experts with those newbish questions" barrier - at least i felt this way...

doesn't mean to encourage noise, but it would be a proper place for initial messages like "hi i am johndoe, my background is blah, and now i try hard but got those issues a) b) c)"... which usually wouldn't fit in one category, absolutely right.

also a fine place to stick in some hints how clocks are ticking in this community.

greetz!
