Wow, that looks indeed quite ugly. Definitely more ugly than with NOGTK. Or is that a NOGTK build (it looks completely different and I never saw NOGTK having such visual glitches)?

Here is mine on a modern NOGTK build:

The Czech is set for some reason in DbfView. We should keep examples in English.

Anyway, as I understand we are trying to get included in Debian, so I'll fire up a virtual machine.

PS: I did upgrade one time the standard FileSel so it looked almost 100% the same as the Windows counterpart. The Buttons on the left should be replaced with non Windows icons though. Never finished it. I'll try to see if I still have sources.
