Subject: Manual page
Posted by dolik.rce on Sat, 30 Jan 2010 23:25:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi everybody!

I think that TheIDE is mature enough to have a man page like any other Linux application. Therefore I wrote one . It is mostly based on the informations from documentation. If you want to install it on your system, it is really easy:# cp theide.1 /usr/share/man/man1or if you prefer compressed manpages# gzip theide.1
cp theide.1.gz /usr/share/man/man1If you want just read it, use$ groff -man -Tascii theide.1(Note that "ascii" can be substituted with "html" or "ps" and redirected to some file, to get nice formatted output)

I plan to add this man page into .deb packages. I guess Mirek might want to include it into nightly source packages as well. But before this, I ask you to read it and give me some feedback about the contents, formating, spelling etc...

Best regards,
Honza

File Attachments

1) theide.1, downloaded 625 times