Just for the record - intptr_t and uintptr_t aren't part of standard C++ or C90 and in C99 they're optional and in stdint.h header - but they appear to be "standard" extensions available in many C++ compilers and in all U++ supported compilers

Graeme