Subject: Re: Plugin Framework
Posted by tojocky on Tue, 02 Feb 2010 20:38:32 GMT

Hello Mirek,

Thank you for your opinion!
Google Chrome is an open source project! This give us possibility to understand how can google realized this and try to adapt in our project!
As you can see, Google can to do GUI and comunication between process.

In the end, I will try to study the google plugin framework technology and make simple demo in u++!

Regards, Ion Lupascu (tojocky)

luzr wrote on Tue, 02 February 2010 20:18

I am 100% for this approach! Whenever I was thinking about safe plugin architecture, I have always ended with something like this.

The only problem is how to achieve effective and maintainable communication between both process. And how to use that to do GUI...