We can not even take a full CMS, but to make the generation of templates.

For example, I have a site I did as follows: (with your permission, I will mention here two references) The first page is pure html -

http://www.svsoft.ru/uslugi_hosting.html, and the second from the first page makes the page of the site -- http://www.svsoft.ru/main_uslugi_hosting.html.

In fact, there is an internal script (rather simple) `main_.php`, who does all the work. I propose to put the same script on the site www.ultimatepp.org. In addition, this script is able to comb the URL and excludes from it all wrong characters.
