Subject: Bug in package handling

Hi,

I found pretty weird behaviour of theide, when invoking it from command line. When I close some file, it switches me to whatever package was open last time. See the attached video (if Ogg format doesn't suite you well, let me know).

I guess it is connected to the code selecting last used package in package selector. So when I skip the selector by opening the package directly, it still has the information about previous package somewhere...

Best regards,
Honza
