I am sorry, but about coordinates I am not. I must experimenting every time.

thing about printing/viewing. just to take screenshot... how about that? and then simply scale and send to printer... ?

thoughts is twisting about the idea of own rutine to check and scale screen to fit the page automatically btw.

you are telling, that the printing ctrls is tricky... how it should be right? (if it even could be) the array of Added(SegItem)s ctrls is the only I have created and using.

I will attach the whole project, if it helps, but it's 'big' ps: I had copied the code only relevant to ctrls, everything else is about background stuff etc. nothing to do w/ visuals pps: I was thinking about 'catch' the block of memory somewhere which has to be printed to videobuffer and dump it
