'forward your style'

i mean the ChPaint functions expect a value, what is part of it (its 4 images or so, what do they mean..

the description of the whole SColorX thing would be good, where it applies, what "Face" means, what "Paper" means, one can only guess by trying, but its not always best results.

underlying code is complicated to it's difficult to work out just from taht.

absolutely, thats why i am asking, to save problems digging in code to find out things that are simple for the user if he knows some bit of basic information.
