prof wrote on Thu, 27 April 2006 16:19 I'm XP user and I use "windows classic" theme. I think that these look better than TheIDE. Maybe, it's just due to colorful icons and fancy toolbar grips I used to?

Well, I don't see nothing better on these screenshots..

IMO Xp style looks very well, even better than original. Yes there are some places to improvement like adding shaded left pane in menu bar or making toolbars similar to those from vs, but u++ gui look doesn't deserve to calling it ugly.

BTW TheIDE goal is not to be beautiful but useful and comfortable. I coded long time in vs and bcb and IMO neither of them was better than theIDE (I'm not talking about vs + visual assist)
