Hi Koldo!

koldo wrote on Fri, 03 September 2010 12:12It would be better if TheIDE would do this automatically to avoid problems. Or at least to set a "dirty" flag to know that when you click "F5", all code should have to be recompiled or linked.

Well, maybe it should be there. It would definitely be user friendly I am just not sure if it is worth the amount of work needed. I was dealing with the build system code lately, so I know what a beast it is
