But the second issue (the flash at the end of the animation) bothers me more and I wonder what the reason is for using a separate control to do the animated popups.

Found the original reason - scrollbar (gets displayed during animation). Also, the effect in DropList is not equivalent to what is standard in other platforms - it should slide in, not be gradually revealed..

Anyway, I am not quite happy about those visual artifacts, so I guess we should fix that...
