

---

Subject: Re: GLCtrl and Docking: do they work together as expected?

Posted by mrjt on Tue, 14 Sep 2010 14:16:13 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Autohide and GLCtrl really aren't very compatible. The Autohide uses a popup control, which means the GLCtrl is moving from one native window to another. This is what's causing the repeated GLInit calls and there isn't anything you can do to stop it since it's required for the GLCtrl to work.

My advice would be to disable Autohide either on the whole app or just the DockableCtrls that hold GLCtrls.

---